

Supplemental material 1:

Presession study invitation letter

Dear [parent name],

I hope you and [baby name] are well.

My name is [researcher name]. I am a researcher at [lab specific content].

Thank you for your interest in our research and for signing [baby name] up to our database 😊

I am writing to ask [whether you might be interested in taking part in one of our studies, for which \[baby name\] is just the right age.](#)

The study [study specific content]. I have attached a Study Information Sheet that describes the study in detail, however in a nutshell, it will involve your baby resting comfortably, asleep or awake, and [study specific content], while we measure their brain activity. To measure your baby's brain activity, we will use a cutting-edge brain imaging technology, called OPM-MEG. OPM-MEG is safe, non-invasive and baby-friendly: for further details on how OPM-MEG works, please see the attached Method Information Sheet.

Here are some slots available at the moment: [...]

The appointment will take place at [lab specific content].

[It would be fantastic if you and \[baby name\] could take part.](#) If this sounds interesting, could you please:

1. Fill in the form that you will find at this link: [link] – this is important for us to be able to confirm your eligibility. When asked, please insert [lab specific content, e.g. anonymous participant ID].
2. Let me know your preferred date/time amongst those above, or whether you would like to take part but the suggested timings don't work.

Should you have any questions at all, please let me know and I would be more than happy to answer them via email or on the phone if that's more convenient.

We would love to welcome you and [baby name] at [lab specific content].

I hope to hear back from you soon.

Best wishes,